DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

- 1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-18, drawn to an apparatus, classified in class 425, subclass 130.
 - II. Claim 19, drawn to a method, classified in class 264, subclass 297.2.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

- 2. Inventions Group II and Group I are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case, the claimed apparatus can practice another and materially different process wherein the materials of the two different valves are injected at the same time.
- 3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
- 4. During a telephone conversation with Linda Alcorn on 11/9/05 a provisional election was made with traverse to prosecute the invention of Group II, claims 1-18. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claim 19 is withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

- 6. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:
 - 1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
 - 2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
 - 3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
 - 4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.
- 7. Claims 1, 3, 4, and 6-11, and 13-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Melcher (3947175).

Melcher teaches a nozzle body (1) having a first valve gating element (18) and second valve gating element (12), a first actuation mechanism (26) and a second actuation mechanism (25). Both materials flow into separate melt channels (11, 20) that links into the outer sleeve (4) of a conventional injection mold with mold cavity (Col. 3, lines 40-45).

Melcher fails to explicitly teach means to drive independently.

It is obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art that the actuation mechanisms (25,26) are capable of independent operation. Melcher describes the mechanisms are separate drives, thus one of ordinary skill in the art would recognize that the actuation mechanisms are capable of independent operations from one another.

In regards to claim 11, the arrangement of the actuation mechanisms in relation to each other and the mold, Melcher teaches both mechanisms side by side, however, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Melcher so that one mechanism is closer to the mold than the other by changing the placement of the mechanism and changing the length of the connecting rod. Thus, one mechanism would be between the other mechanism and the mold. Melcher already teaches that one of the valve bushing extends.

8. Claims 2 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Melcher as applied to claims 1, 3, 4, 6-11, and 13-18 above, and further in view of Takeda Yoshinobu (JP 2000033634)

Melcher fails to teach the gates linking to separate mold cavities and the location of one of the actuators between the other actuator and the mold.

Takeda teaches a molding apparatus that contains the flows going into separate mold cavities. The apparatus is capable of having one mold flow entering into separate mold cavities (20A,20B).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Melcher with the channels to enter separate mold cavities as taught by Takeda Yoshinobu because it allows for multicavity injection molding.

9. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Melcher as applied to claims 1, 3, 4, 6-11, and 13-18 above, and further in view of Osuna-Diaz.

Melcher fails to teach the first gating element extends through the second actuation mechanism.

Osuna Diaz teaches a first gating element (28) that extends through the second actuation element (78).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Melcher with the actuation element and gating element configuration as taught by Osuna-Diaz because it allows the actuators to be spaced in the same axis and thereby save room.

Conclusion

- 10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Stacy (2418856), Bemis (5891381), Manner (5368480), Taniyama (5372496), Babin (2004/0109916), and Gellert (5223275).
